

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

What It Is and How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force In Many Instances

SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED BY EVERY DOCTOR AND USED IN EVERY HOSPITAL
Says Editor of "Physicians' Who's Who."

Take plain bitro-phosphate in the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arm, neck and shoulders, replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft, curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known as bitro-phosphate. As bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Lee & Osgood and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Clinical tests made in St. Catherine's Hospital, N. Y. City, showed that two patients gained in weight 23 and 27 pounds, respectively, through the administration of organic phosphate. Both patients claim they have not felt as strong and well for the past twelve years.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities.

Frederick Kelle, M.D., editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says: "Bitro-phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength, nerve force and to enrich the blood." Joseph D. Harrigan, former visiting specialist to North Eastern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anaemic, or run-down, take a small, unadorned substance such as bitro-phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensary as being an excellent tonic and nerve and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question, for every Bitro-phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the secret nostrums, so-called tonics or widely advertised "cure-alls."

CAUTION—Although Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, owing to its tendency to increase weight it should not be used by anyone who does not desire to put on fat.

amusing, others irritating, and still others illuminating. Howard M. Withey, who is working in Goodyear this week, tells for instance of trying to enumerate the members of a Polish family. No member of the family except an exceedingly bright little girl of 4 years was able to speak English, but this little girl, acting as interpreter, managed to get the census taker all of the information he needed about every member of the family. Mr. Withey states that the little girl was one of the brightest children he has ever encountered.

On the other hand, some of the census takers have found that there is fear among many of the alien families that the government is having the census taken so as to get information relative to available man-power in case of war, and with that idea in mind are evasive and sometimes try to conceal the fact that there are male members of the family other than the head.

A Never Failing Way to Bannish Ugly Hairs

(Aids to Beauty)

No woman is immune to superfluous growths, and because these are likely to appear at any time, it is advisable to always have some depilatory powder handy to use when the occasion arises. A paste is made with some of the powder and water and spread upon the hairy surface; in about 2 minutes this is carefully removed and the skin washed. You will then find that your skin is entirely free from hair or fuzz. Be sure, however, to get real depilatory.
